

Fundación Cepsa donates over €18,000 to the Spanish Food Banks Federation

- The contribution is the result of Cepsa's Christmas Vital Energy campaign
- More than 8,000 users participated in the initiative on social media

Fundación Cepsa has made a donation of €18,465 to the Spanish Federation of Food Banks (FESBAL). This contribution is the result of Cepsa's "Vital energy" Christmas campaign, which is aimed at collecting resources for people at risk of social exclusion. In this campaign, Cepsa delivered a cookies packet for each of the Company's employees, to FESBAL, through its Fundación Cepsa. A total of 10,000 cookie packets, worth in total 10,000 euros.

The campaign was also publicized over social media between December 27 and January 4. During that period, thanks to the efforts of Cepsa's employees, more than 8,465 users got involved in the campaign, contributing 8,465 packets of cookies to the challenge, equal to 8,465 euros.

This donation comes on top of various initiatives that the Fundación Cepsa carries out in collaboration with the federated Food Banks. For example, Cepsa employees took part in the Food Collection Campaign, where last year the Fundación Cepsa donated 20 liters of fuel for each Cepsa volunteer who took part (a total of €5,500).

The Madrid Food Bank has recently been awarded €12,000 in the Fundación Cepsa's Social Value Awards. These awards, which have a solid track record, aim to recognize and promote social initiatives that favor the inclusion and well-being of underprivileged groups.

Fundación Cepsa is a general interest, non-profit entity with the goal of undertaking initiatives to serve the needs and priorities of the local communities where its founder, COMPAÑÍA ESPAÑOLA DE PETRÓLEOS S.A.U. (Cepsa), conducts its activities. The areas of action for Fundación Cepsa are social, cultural, environmental, scientific-educational, and support for amateur sports.
